DENVER – March 15, 2017 – Travelers from around the world have voted Denver International Airport (DEN) as the top U.S. airport serving 50-60 million passengers per year, according to the prestigious 2017 Skytrax World Airport Awards.

DEN was named the No. 3 best airport in the world serving 50-60 million passengers, making it the highest-rated U.S. airport in that category.

DEN received several other distinctions, including:

- No. 2 Best Regional Airport in North America
- No. 4 World's Best Regional Airport
- No. 4 Best Airport Staff in North America

“Passengers from around the world have again recognized Denver International Airport as one of the best airports to travel to and through because of our focus on elevating the entire passenger experience from the terminal to the gate,” airport CEO Kim Day said. “We are committed to continuously improving our facility and have been adding exciting new passenger amenities while providing a high level of customer service.”

The Skytrax World Airport Awards are voted on by customers in the largest, annual global airport customer satisfaction survey. The awards are based on 13.82 million airport survey questionnaires completed by 105 different nationalities of airline customers during the survey period. The survey operated from July 2016 to February 2017, covering 550 airports worldwide and evaluating traveler experiences across different airport service and product key performance indicators -- from check-in, arrivals, transfers, shopping, security and immigration through to departure at the gate. The World Airport Awards are a global benchmark of airport excellence.

Denver International Airport is the 19th-busiest airport in the world and the sixth-busiest airport in the United States. With 58.3 million passengers traveling through the airport each year, DEN is one of the busiest airline hubs in the world's largest aviation market. DEN is the primary economic engine for the state of Colorado, generating more than $26 billion for the region annually.
