AMEX Centurion Lounge Lands at Denver International Airport Becoming Airport's First Non-Airline Lounge

DENVER – Feb. 1, 2021 – The American Express (NYSE: AXP) Centurion Lounge is now open at Denver International Airport (DEN), becoming the airport's first non-airline lounge. The Centurion Lounge is located on the mezzanine level of Concourse C near gate 46 on the east end of the concourse.

"We are happy to be able to offer our passengers a new place to enjoy and rest their feet while they wait for their flight," said DEN CEO Kim Day. "It's a pleasure to welcome our first non-airline lounge to Denver, and to welcome American Express to the DEN family."

The new lounge reflects the Mile High City spirit, touting American Express' first Craft Beer Bar¹ with rotating selections of locally brewed beer, a live-action cooking station featuring a locally sourced Italian menu designed by Chef Lachlan Mackinnon-Patterson, design features reminiscent of our Rocky Mountains, an immersive game experience and plenty of lounge seating and free WIFI.

"We're excited to unveil a new Centurion Lounge at one of the most frequented airports by our Premium Card Members, Denver International Airport, and provide a safe and comfortable space for them as they look to start their travels again," said Alexander Lee, Vice President of American Express Travel Experiences and Benefits. "We collaborated closely with local partners to design a space that brings to life all of the unique offerings of Denver, from their renowned craft brewery and culinary scene, to the natural beauty of the Rocky Mountains."

The Centurion Lounge at DEN is American Express' second-largest lounge to-date, covering more than 14,000-square-feet. Access to The Centurion Lounge is complimentary for Platinum Card Members, Centurion Members and Delta SkyMiles Reserve Card Members. Day passes are not available for purchase.
